Update 24 // September - October 2020

'Interchange Pavilion' Takes Centre Stage

Take a stroll into South Eveleigh, grab some lunch and sit in the shade of a masterpiece.

Opened 25 August in Village Square, award winning Australian artist and architect Chris Fox reimagined Sydney's railway lines to create a major new sculptural landmark inviting visitors to reflect on the various histories of the site as well as come together before diverging into their own future journeys.
